The Triple Glazing Question was launched by Edgetech UK at the beginning of the year. The event is an open discussion about what it means to systems companies, fabricators, installers, glass manufacturers and hardware companies. It's an opportunity for the industry to have their say as well as hear what others think.

The industry has the opportunity to have their voices heard at The Triple Glazing Question. Ordering tickets couldn't be easier. The Triple Glazing Question, a Quanex Building Products seminar, is open to everyone. As well as the live event, there's a discussion website. Between now and then there will be polls on the website, LinkedIn, Facebook and Twitter to gauge the mood of the industry. We're looking for a lively debate so companies can get to the real issues that affect them.
